ACTIVITIES

ATC has many different activities that take place throughout the year. These activities range from cultural to business to governmental affairs.

Annual Conference

An event of enormous value to its Members is the ATC Annual Conference. Held every year in Washington DC, it incorporates the whole spectrum of U.S.-Turkish relations. The Conference program addresses the key issues between the two countries and the region. Participation is diverse: Members of the U.S. Congress and the Turkish Parliament; Ministers and Cabinet Secretaries; senior U.S. and Turkish military leaders; other senior Administration and Turkish Government officials and political leaders. The Conference also attracts hundreds of other participants, including leaders in international business, investment and the professions from Turkey and the United States. The Conference offers up-to-the-minute political and economic briefings as well as cultural events. It provides an opportunity for American and Turkish businessmen and women to develop business contacts and to exchange ideas and information on strategic issues, product marketing, and scientific topics.

Committees

Our ATC Members are also diverse. Their interests and activities cover a vast range of subjects. In order to incorporate and make the best use of this diversity, the Council has formed industry specific committees that actively work on issues pertinent to their own areas, but also cross-out with the interests of the other committees in order to encourage and enhance the business interests of each Member. The Council's Standing Committees, which guide its activities, are as follows: Agribusiness & Food Industries, Banking & Finance, Cultural Affairs, Defense & Security Affairs, Construction, Electric Power, Oil & Gas, and Pharmaceuticals. Ad hoc committees also exist for Textiles, and Trade & Investment. Corporate members are encouraged to take part in these work groups.

Congressional Staff Trip

Each year, select groups of Congressional Staffers are invited to visit Turkey, an educational trip that combines meetings with top-level administration members, NGOs, and visits to some of the outstanding historical and cultural sights of the country. This trip also gives ATC an opportunity to show the achievements of Member companies within Turkey such as power plants, schools, factories, joint ventures and other businesses.

Publications & Web site

The Council has two annual publications, one is the Conference magazine and the other is the Annual Report. Both of these provide an opportunity for Members to advertise and promote their activities as well as share their experiences. These publications are distributed to government officials of the U.S. and Turkey and also at various ATC sponsored workshops in the U.S., Turkey and Europe. The American-Turkish Council's integrated website provides links to related sites, as well as Member sites and is the milieu in which interesting articles and related information about Turkey and the United States is posted. Members and other interested parties may also use the website to advertise their company and/or product.

Seminars, Workshops & Briefings

Throughout the year, ATC sponsors seminars and workshops in Turkey and the US, as well as breakfasts, luncheons, dinners and receptions for visiting dignitaries and other Turkish officials. In Washington, as part of its educational awareness program, ATC organizes briefings on current U.S.-Turkish issues with senior officials in the Executive Branch and members and staff officials of both Houses in the Congress.
